Reuben A. Miller.

Reuben A. Miller, who died of heart disease in Owensboro Saturday, was one of the most prominent attorneys in Kentucky. Until recently he was chief counsel for the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis railroad and as a corporation lawyer had few equals in the State. He was born in Ohio county in 1857, on a farm. He taught school to aid in completing his education and at 21 located at Hawesville to practice law. Two years later he married Miss Maggie Morehead, a daughter of an officer in Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's division of the Confederate army. In 1884 he was elected county attorney of Hancock county. In 1887 he seconded the nomination of Gen. Buckner for Governor and was appointed State Inspector and Examiner by Gov. Buckner in 1888, but had no taste for the work and resigned and moved to Owensboro to practice law and rapidly rose to prominence. In 1892 he was a delegate to the convention that nominated Grover Cleveland for President and was one of the last four delegates from Kentucky to agree to vote for Cleveland and make his nomination possible in an all night convention. In 1891 he placed John Young Brown in nomination in the convention that nominated him for governor. His career as a lawyer has been eminently successful. Much of his large practice was in the federal courts and he was on one side or the other of nearly every important case. In the Latham will litigation he represented the city of Hopkinsville, as the resident attorney at Owensboro. Mr. Miller was not an office-holder, but for several terms consented to serve as a member of the Owensboro School Board. His death in the very prime of his career is deeply regretted and is a source of sorrow to friends all over Kentucky. He is survived by a daughter and three sons.

Ten English officers, prisoners at Madgeburg, Germany, have been placed in solitary confinement in reprisal for treatment accorded German submarine prisoners. The reprisal is on army officers, because no British naval prisoners have been taken.

Carranza troops at Laredo fired upon a portion of their own men Saturday through mistake and killed Gen. Herrera, his aide and several other members of his staff. Another report is that Gen. Herrera was killed by another officer who rebelled.

At least one candidate has the courage of his convictions. Col. W. P. Walton, of Lexington, candidate for Secretary of State, has come out in his paper for an ante-primary convention.

Mayor Donn Roberts and fourteen other Terre Haute politicians, convicted of election frauds, started for the Leavenworth penitentiary Sunday in a special car under guard.

Mayor Roberts, of Terre Haute, Ind., having declined to resign, articles of impeachment have been filed against him by the council to be tried April 23.

The Twenty-fourth annual Congress of the D. A. R. is in session at Washington. The re-election of Mrs. Wm. C. Story, as President-General, is assured.

Arthur M. Wallace, formerly of this city, is a Democratic candidate for Judge of the Chancery branch of the Louisville circuit court, first division.

April 20 to 24 are clean up days in Hopkinsville. Be ready when the wagon calls.

STOCK LAW IN EFFECT

Farmers Already Feeling Good Effects of The New Law.

STOCK MUST BE KEPT UP

Penalties Amount To Loss of Cattle If Turned Out To Run at Large.

The farmers are having their first experience with a stock law in Christian county and are delighted with its operations. Most of them now leave their farm gates open and there are no stock running at large, at least such is the case in many parts of the county. In some neighborhoods the law is not being rigidly observed. Since the passage of the law it has been unlawful "for any person to permit cattle or other live stock, to run at large and any person so offending shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $25 for each offense; and if any damages shall be committed by cattle the owner of such cattle shall be liable for all such damages, whether the place where the damages occurred be inclosed by a lawful fence or not, and the person damaged shall have a lien on the cattle committing the damage for the amount thereof and cost of suit, and it shall furthermore be the duty of any constable, sheriff or town marshal, to impound any cattle found running at large, and the owner or bailee thereof shall pay to the officer impounding, for each head so impounded, one dollar and the cost of feeding and taking care of such cattle, provided the cost of impounding any number of cattle at one time shall not exceed $3 and the cost of feeding, and such officer shall have a lien on the cattle so impounded for his fees and expenses, which he may enforce in the manner mortgage liens are enforced."

The above extracts from the law contain the salient features.

It will be seen that cattle allowed to run at large are practically given away when they are turned out. The fine imposed, the cost of impounding, the cost for feeding in the pound and the liability for damage done, with liens on the stock until damages and costs are paid, make the law iron clad in its provisions.

The public generally is not familiar with the provisions of the law, as the Kentuckian has not heretofore explained its features. Those who let their stock run out, must be ignorant of the fact that the average cow or hog needs only about one day to eat its head off if outside of its owner's premises.

FUNDS FOR NEW PIKE

On Princeton Road To Be Solicited This Week By Committee.

Lucian J. Harris and John J. Metcalfe, the committee from the H. B. M. A. to assist in raising a subscription fund to be used in supplementing the state aid in rebuilding 8 miles of pike on the Princeton road and in building 10 miles of new road on the Trigg county line, will start to work this week in an effort to raise $2,000 or $3,000 more. The people along a part of the route have already subscribed about $2,000. This is the last important road out of Hopkinsville to a county seat to be improving and a strong effort is being made to raise the necessary funds to finish the entire route.

HARRY THAW ORDERED BACK

Appellate Division of New York Supreme Court Acts on the Case.

ATTORNEYS PLAN AN APPEAL.

Decision Averse to Thaw Comes as Great Surprise to Counsel.

New York, April 18.—Harry Kendall Thaw was ordered back to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan Friday by the hospital division of the New York supreme court. In an opinion concurred in by all the justices the court affirmed the denial by Supreme Court Justice Page of a motion to return Thaw to the jurisdiction of the state of New Hampshire, whence he was extradited to stand trial for conspiring to escape from the Matteawan asylum, and ruled that the original order committing him to the institution was still valid.

Plans are being formulated to take the case to the state court of appeals.

A decisive adverse to Thaw came as a great surprise to his counsel. The order carried with it the provision that Thaw could not be taken from New York county until five days have elapsed.

The writ of habeas corpus sworn in Thaw's behalf after he was acquitted on the charge of conspiracy is finally returnable Monday. At that time counsel will present arguments urging that their client be granted permission to have a jury determine his present mental condition.

Should a decision unfavorable to Thaw be forthcoming by Wednesday the state will have the right to return him to Matteawan forthwith, providing his counsel shall not have obtained a stay of execution in the order committing him to Matteawan, pending appeal.

Thaw himself refused tonight to comment on the court's action.

COUNCIL TAKES WISE ACTION

Will Give Substantial Aid To County In Establishing Sanatorium.

An appropriation of $1,000 was made by the City Council Friday night towards establishing a summer camp here under the supervision of the State Tuberculosis Commission for the treatment of patients in this county. The county has already appropriated $1,500 and is expected to appropriate an additional sum at least equal to the city's appropriation.

By an overwhelming vote two years ago the people of the county declared themselves in favor of declaring Christian county a tuberculosis sanatorium district and for the building of a permanent sanatorium. But the Fiscal Court has been unable to make the large appropriation necessary. So it was decided to start the sanatorium as a summer camp, with tents furnished by the State instead of permanent buildings. This requires much less money and the City Council's action is regarded as insuring this. By winter it is hoped to have the matter in such shape that buildings may be erected. For a month past Joseph Severance, of Frankfort, member of the State Commission, has been here working up interest in the proposition. Statistics show that Christian county stands at the head of the list of those affected with tuberculosis, hence the desire to get the work under way here. The summer camp will be the first effort at treatment under the new tuberculosis law, as it will be in operation ahead of the permanent sanatorium now being built in Fayette and Henderson counties.

"EVERY GIRL" BIG SUCCESS

Drew a Large Crowd and All Were Well Pleased.

The delightfully interesting school entertainment staged by Miss Parrent, "Every Girl," was given at the Union Tabernacle Friday night to a big house. Every one present enjoyed the event and left the building with praise for Miss Parrent and the talented young people so admirably trained by her. The stage was a bower of beautiful flowers, the many fancy costumes in the play and choruses making the scene a riot of rich colors, and the joyous spirit of youth was everywhere. A feature of special interest was the exquisite playing of the Princess orchestra, conducted by Prof. Wilhelm von Otto.

The play was a bright and sparkling one. Miss Mary Joe Wallace, as "Every Girl" was charming; little Selden Trimble made a hit in his recitations and as "The School Bell"; Belle Alexander as "Slang" was captivating; and all other roles were well sustained. The solos by Misses Nell Espie and Mattie Walker were greeted with prolonged applause, and the Clay Street School Song, composed by Miss Alice Merritt, made a hit. A nice sum was realized by the school and it will be used for improvements.

BOXING EXHIBITION

Some Fine Sport Promised Those Who Witness the Match Here Tomorrow Night.

Hopkinsville sport devotees are promised some fine entertainment on the occasion of the big boxing bout at Holland's Opera House tomorrow night, when Frankie Sanders, of Nashville, Tenn., will meet in an eight-round contest. There will be a four-round preliminary bout before the big battle begins.

Both of the men who will meet here have participated in many fights and they have the reputation of being fast mitt artists. Sanders is a native of Italy. He is 5 feet 4 inches and has a reach of 67 inches. He will arrive here with his manager to-night and his opponent in the match is expected to arrive tomorrow morning.

The promoters of the local contest are J. L. Tobin and Tony Lambrack.

Prices will be 25c, 50c and 75c. The gallery will be reserved for colored people.

The preliminary bout will start promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

The committee wish the public to understand that this bout is to be a real entertainment, conducted with order and decorum, first class in its service and suitable for ladies to attend. Some ladies have already secured tickets. No betting will be allowed, but everything will be perfectly straight and orderly. A big crowd is confidently expected. This is the first of a series of athletic exhibitions to be given.

Seats are now on sale at Anderson's Drug Store.

Germany's Naval Policy.

If the Von Tripitz submarines are for the purposes of the war as has always been understood by civilization, they are for attack and defense against an enemy. The enemy afloat in this war with Germany is the British navy, the French navy and the Russian navy.

But the submarines are no longer striking at dreadnaughts, cruisers, torpedo destroyers, fighting weapons which, even though they may be caught unawares by the prowlers under the waves, have some chance to strike back. The submarines, giving a clear berth to the warships, are hunting excursion boats, fishing smacks, blowing them up without warning and killing their non-combatant passengers and crews.—Henderson Gleaner.

BOMBS ON TURKISH CAMP.

French Capture Important Height Near Metzeral in The Vosges.

London, April 19.—The British, as an offset to their success in destroying a Turkish torpedo boat which attacked the transport Manito off Chios Saturday, lost the submarine E-15, which, while carrying out a difficult reconnaissance in the Dardanelles mine field, ran aground on Kephez Point, the crew being made prisoners.

According to the Turkish report, seven of the submarine crew are missing.

In Egypt British airmen have dropped bombs on the Turkish encampment near the border, while a French cruiser, the fire of which was directed by a seaplane, has been throwing shells on the Turks near El-Arish, where the army for the invasion of Egypt has its headquarters.

These operations were undertaken presumably to harass the Turks, as the Turks have not shown any intention of attacking the British since their last repulse along the canal.

In the Carpathians there has been fighting, but no battle to be compared with those which the arrival of spring brought to a close. The Austrians report that they have repulsed Russian attacks southeast of Lupkow Pass, inflicting heavy losses on their adversaries, but elsewhere comparative calm prevails.

The French again have been active in the Vosges, capturing an important height near Metzeral. The British, too, have attacked the Germans in the neighborhood of Ypres, where fighting was still in progress when the last report was dispatched.

It is again stated that German efforts to bring about an accord between Austria and Italy have failed. A report, which, if confirmed, is likely to magnify in the eyes of the Italians the frontier incident which occurred Saturday, is that the Austrians, who were passing over Italian territory, actually fired upon the Italian troops, who repulsed them, and in return penetrated into Austrian territory.

The sinking of the Greek steamer Ellisponos by a submarine off the Dutch coast is likely to bring about friction between the Greek and German government. The Ellisponos was destroyed while on a voyage from Ymuiden, Holland, to Montevideo in ballast.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATED

Shots Fired Into The Residence of Officer K. H. Keach at Fredonia.

Shortly before midnight Friday night unknown persons fired several shots into the residence of K. H. Keach, policeman, at Fredonia, Caldwell county. None of the shots did any damage other than breaking a few window lights, and when Keach returned the fire the perpetrators fled. A bloodhound was rushed to the scene from Sebree and at once took a trail that led to the home of Will Logan, a negro, who is under arrest. Mr. Keach until recently lived in this city and went to take his present position. He was formerly a member of the local police force.

COLT RAISED BY HAND

Cows' Milk May Be Substituted
If Attendant Is Patient.Be Careful to Keep Bottle and Nipple Scrupulously Clean—Foal Should Be Adequately Fed at All Times to Develop.(By A. S. ALEXANDER, D. V. S.)
In case the mare dies or has no milk the foal may be raised on cows' milk, if the attendant conducts the work patiently and intelligently.
Choose the milk of a cow that has recently calved, preferably one which gives milk low in butter-fat, for mares' milk while rich in sugar, is poor in fat. Sweeten the milk with molasses or sugar and dilute with warm water.
Give a little of this prepared milk at short intervals from a scalded nursing bottle and large rubber nipple. Be careful to keep the bottle and nipple scrupulously clean. Add an ounce of lime water to each pint of the prepared milk and allow half a cupful once an hour at first.As the foal grows, gradually increase the amount of milk fed and lengthen the intervals between meals.
In a few days food may be given six times a day and, later, four times daily. The foal will soon learn to drink from a pail, if allowed to suck
the attendant's fingers at first.
Until the bowels move freely, give rectal injections night and morning.
If the foal scours at any time give two to four tablespoonfuls of a mixture of sweet oil and pure castor oil shaken up in milk, and stop feeding milk for two or three meals, allowing Mare and Colt.

sweetened warm water and lime water instead. Let the foal lick oatmeal as soon as it will eat and gradually increase the amount and add wheat bran. In five or six weeks some sweet skim milk may be given and the amount gradually increased daily until, in three months or so, it may be given freely three times a day in place of new milk. The foal at this age also will be eating freely of grass, grain and bran.At all times supply pure cold drinking water. Let the foal run out in a lot or grass paddock for exercise.
Accustom it to be handled daily. Feed small quantities of nutritious food often, keeping all food vessels clean, and the foal should thrive and develop well. Remember that a colt should at all times be adequately fed so as to develop it perfectly. Practically half of the full weight of a horse is gained during the first 12 months of its life. If stunted during this period the colt never develops properly; it therefore pays to feed generously.

SPRAYING IN SPRING

Take Pains to Destroy "Flies"
of the Pear Psylla.Insects Are Sluggish in Their Movements in Early Months of Year, Making Them Quite Vulnerable to Treatment.(By H. HODGKINS, New York.) Especially pains should be taken to destroy the eggs as well as the winter
"flies" of the pear psylla, as effective work greatly reduces the number of eggs deposited on the trees.In early spring while the insects are able to crawl they are very sluggish in their movements. This habit makes them very vulnerable to treatment and the grower should take full advantage of it by so spraying that none of the insects be allowed to escape. It is to wet thoroughly all portions of the trees and especial care should be taken to force the liquid under the loose bark and into all the cracks and crevices in the bark. One tree should be thoroughly sprayed before proceeding to another, for in balmy weather
the flies may dodge quickly to the opposite side of the tree. In planning this work be sure to select days when there is no danger of the spraying mixture freezing on the trees.The eggs about to hatch and the young nymphs succumb easily to an application of lime-sulphur mixture.
In this lies a very important hint toIllustration at Left Shows the Best
Stage for Spraying to Destroy Psylla
Eggs—At Right, Too Early for Effective Control.the fruit grower. The eggs of the psylla are laid principally during April and commence to hatch early in May or when the blossom cluster-buds are beginning to separate at the tips.
Most growers spray much earlier than this for the San Jose scale, but by postponing the treatment of pear orchards until the blossom clusters are well advanced one may deal an effective blow against the psylla and with the same treatment successfully combat the scale. The spray should be used in liberal quantities and pains should be exercised to wet all portions of the tree, especially the fruit spurs and the under sides of the young wood, where most of the eggs are laid.

GIVE HOGS VARIETY OF FOOD

Essential to Satisfaction of Animal and Stimulates Digestive Organs to Activity.There are some very important considerations in feeding swine which should not be lost sight of. The hog by nature is an omnivorous animal and readily eats a great variety of food.Though domesticated for many years, he has not lost his natural instincts and loves to roam the fields and woods in search of various roots and plants, and is not averse to eating meat of various kinds whenever opportunity affords.This love of a great variety of food is so deeply rooted in the hog as to have made a permanent impression upon the character of his teeth which are adapted not only to the grinding of grain, but also to the tearing asunder of flesh. This of itself should be sufficient to convince the feeder of the advisability of variety in the ration of the hog, but the general cultivation of corn, and its cheapness in years gone by, have led many farmers to lose sight of this essential matter.Moreover, a variety of food, while essential to the satisfaction of the animal consuming it, stimulates the digestive organs to greater activity, which is a most desirable end to attain and this of itself would amply reward the feeder for taking greater pains and effort to provide the hog with a greater variety of food suited to its nutrition.

GOOD COMMON HORSE SENSE

Never Water Animal Immediately
After Being Fed Grain—Don't Change Rations Abruptly.A horse should not be watered immediately after being fed grain. Idle horses should not be fed too much grain.Have the horse's teeth examined once a year.Do not continually dose your horse;
keep him well by proper care. Horses cannot be kept in a thriving condition if they are compelled to get all their living from the straw stack.Do not change the grain ration abruptly.

Feeds Responsible for Loss.

A hog is a hog, and badly balanced rations and foods that are indigestible, are responsible for much loss. Many young pigs are severely

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armor glistering just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia?

Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions may be sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by one of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE!

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof. Grover completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of 30 years will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

A Vision of the Glorified

By REV. L. W. GOSNELL
Assistant to the Dean, Moody Bible Institute
Chicago

TEXT—His servants shall serve him; and they shall see his face; and his name shall be to their foreheads.—Rev. 22:3, 4

The Bible tells little of the intermediate state. The early Christians looked not for death, but for the coming of the Lord. True, these who are with Christ are in a blissful state, resting from their labors, "at home with the Lord" and enjoying the sweets of Paradise (Phil. 1:23; 2 Cor. 5:8 R. V. margin; 11 Cor. 12:4). But "man was made for corporeity" and will not reach perfection until clothed with a glorified body. The text exhibits some privileges of the finally redeemed who will dwell in "the holy city, new Jerusalem."

Service.

"His servants shall serve him." The common idea of heaven is as a place of rest, and it will be so. Earth is full of weary ones, and the millions who follow Buddhism, with its teaching of annihilation as the final blessedness, are evidence of the craving for rest. But heaven may be a place of rest and of service too. Says MacLaren: "Work at its intensest, which is pleasurable work and level to the capacity of the doer, is the truest form of rest. In vacancy there are stings and torments; it is only in joyous activity which is not pushed to the extent of strain and unwholesome effort that the true rest of man is to be found."

What will the service be? Those who are faithful over a few things will be made rulers over many. In "the regeneration," the apostles will sit on thrones, judging the 12 tribes of Israel (Matt. 19:28); and we hear of saints who will rule over five cities or ten (Luke 19); this seems to point to millennial times, when the glorified will share the government of earth. Again, Ephesians 2:7 shows we have been saved "that in the ages to come he might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us through Christ Jesus." Wondering angels will magnify the grace of God in us. One of large vision says, "We know not what new worlds may be created, what new spheres may be opened for the exercise of the powers of those who shall reign in life."

"His servants shall do him priestly service," is the literal meaning of the phrase before us. While it will be all work, it will be all worship. It will be the happy estate of Mary and Martha combined. Work will be worship and worship will be work, yet in both we shall rest, sitting at Jesus' feet.

Vision.

"They shall see his face." This seems to contradict some scriptures which tell us man will never see God. True, in a sense we can never see God. God is a spirit and cannot be seen corporeally; we may never behold more than a symbol of him, as Stephen saw "the glory of God," yet this would not preclude our knowing him, for "spirit with spirit can meet." Moreover, we shall not see God in the sense of finding him out to perfection; he is infinite and we shall have always before us the joy of discovery.

But while this is true, we shall see Jesus, who said, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." He is the word by whom God is revealed. We see now through a glass darkly, but then, face to face. We would not minimize the work of the Holy Ghost in us, revealing Christ, but the early Christians longed to behold the face of their Lord; their cry was, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus."

Knowing as I am known,
How shall I love that word,
And oft repeat before the throne—
"Forever with the Lord."

Likeness.

"His name shall be in their foreheads." This speaks of ownership. But it suggests likeness, too, for in Scripture the name stands for manifested character; we shall have God's image stamped upon us. We seek to be holy now, but there we shall have attained. "We shall be like him."

There is no sin in heaven:
Behold that happy throng,
All glorious in their spotless robes,
All holy in their song!
"Our light affliction, which is but for a moment, worketh for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory, while we look not at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal. For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, a house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens" (II Cor. 4:17-18).

KENTUCKY MILITIA MEN WIN THE RIFLE MATCH

Earlington Company Defeats the Evansville National Guard Cracks.

Company G, Third Kentucky national guard, of Earlington took honors from Company E, I. N. G., the local militia, in a rifle match at the range on the Mt. Vernon traction line yesterday afternoon. The match was a heated battle, the Kentucky boys winning by a score of 1,089 to 1,031.

The day was an ideal one for the contest and many spectators turned out. Capt. Alex Osborn was in charge of the local company but did not take part in the shooting.

The scores were:

Company E.—Capt. Wheeler, 208; Sergeant Singleton, 225; Sergeant Greenfield 200; Sergeant Horn, 210; Corporal Wilkins, 188.

Company G.—Lieut. Payton, 232; Sergeant Brinkley, 225; Artificer Brinkley, 208; Capt. Wilson, 212; Sergeant Stokes, 212.

Another contest is being planned with the Kentucky company for the near future.—Evansville Courier.

ELECTRICITY IN THE HOME

Display of Light Easily Made With Equipments That Are Always
at Command.

The ordinary person either does not understand or is afraid of electricity, and could scarcely be persuaded to manufacture it himself, and yet, after all, a little electrical experiment at home is both amusing and instructive. All that you have to do is to take a glass, expose it to the fire so that it shall be perfectly dry, and place it upside down upon the table.

Afterward take a tray, also perfectly dry, and place it upon the glass in such a way that it shall preserve its equilibrium. Finally, take a sheet of paper slightly smaller than the tray, heat it, and rub it rapidly with a brush, and it will become quickly electrified. Then place it upon the tray.

An electrical machine will thus have been constructed without any expense. If the finger be brought near the tray a spark will appear. This spark will be so much the brighter and the series of sparks will be so much the longer in proportion as the glass and tray are drier.

If when the sparks are being drawn from the tray the room in which the experiment is performed be darkened these sparks will appear extremely brilliant.

CATBIRD, BROWN THRASHER AND WREN

Brown Thrasher—Above, Bright Reddish Brown; Below, White; Breast and Flanks Spotted With Brown.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

According to a new bulletin issued by the department of agriculture, entitled "Some Common Birds Useful to the Farmer" (farmers' bulletin No. 630), the wren, brown thrasher and catbird are three very useful neighbors to the grower of crops or fruits. The diminutive house wren frequents barns and gardens, and particularly old orchards in which the trees are partially decayed. He makes his nest in a hollow where perhaps a woodpecker had a domicile the year before, but he is a pugnacious character, and if he happens to fancy one of the boxes put up for bluebirds he does not hesitate to take it. He is usually not slow to avail himself of boxes, gourds, tin cans, or empty jars placed for his accommodation.

In food habits the house wren is entirely beneficial. He may be said to live upon animal food alone, for an examination of 88 stomachs showed that 98 per cent of the contents was made up of insects or their allies, and only 2 per cent was vegetable food, including bits of grass and similar matter, evidently taken by accident with the insects. Half of this food consisted of grasshoppers and beetles; the remainder of caterpillars, bugs and spiders. As the wren is a prolific breeder, frequently rearing in a season from 12 to 16 young, a family of these birds must cause considerable reduction in the number of insects in a garden. Wrens are industrious foragers, searching every tree, shrub and vine for caterpillars, and examining every post and rail of the fence and every cranny in the wall for insects or spiders.

The house wren is only one of a numerous group of small birds of similar habits. There are within the limits of the United States 34 species and subspecies of wrens, occupying more or less completely the whole country from the Atlantic to the Pacific. With the exception of the marsh wrens, they all appear to prefer some cozy nook for a nesting site, and, as it happens, the farm buildings afford just the place desired. This has led several of the wrens to seek out the habitations of man, and he is benefited by their destruction of noxious insects. No species of wren has been accused of harm, and their presence should be encouraged about every farm, ranch, village or suburban residence.

The brown thrasher breeds throughout the United States east of the great plains, and winters in the South Atlantic and Gulf states. It occasionally visits the garden or orchard, but nests in swamps or in groves standing upon low ground. The thrasher's favorite time for singing is in early morning, when, perched on the top of a tall bush or low tree, it gives an exhibition of vocal powers which would do credit to a mockingbird. Indeed, in the South, where the latter bird is abundant, the thrasher is known as the sandy mocker.

The food of the brown thrasher consists of both fruit and insects. An examination of 636 stomachs showed 36 per cent of vegetable and 64 of animal food, practically all insects, and mostly taken in spring before fruit was ripe. Half the insects were beetles and the remainder chiefly grasshoppers, caterpillars, bugs and spiders. A few predaceous beetles were eaten, but on the whole the work of the species as an insect destroyer may be considered beneficial.

Eight per cent of its food is made up of fruits like raspberries or currants which are or may be cultivated, but the raspberries at least are as likely to belong to wild as to cultivated varieties. Grain, made up mostly of scattered kernels of oats and corn, is merely a trifle, amounting to only 3 per cent. Though some of the corn may be taken from newly planted fields, it is amply paid for by the destruction of May beetles which are eaten at the same time. The rest of the food consists of wild fruit or seeds. Taken all in all, the brown thrasher is a useful bird, and probably does as good work in its secluded retreats as it would about the garden, for the swamps and groves are no doubt the breeding grounds of many insects that migrate thence to attack the crops of the farmer.

The catbird, like the thrasher, is a lover of swamps and delights to make its home in a tangle of wild grapevines, greenbriers, and shrubs, where it is safe from attack and can find its favorite food in abundance. It is found throughout the United States west to the Rocky mountains, and extends also from Washington, Idaho and Utah northward into the provinces of Canada. It winters in the southern states, Cuba, Mexico and Central America.

Reports from the Mississippi valley indicate that the catbird is sometimes a serious annoyance to fruit growers. The reason for such reports may possibly be found in the fact that on the prairies fruit-bearing shrubs, which afford so large a part of this bird's food, are conspicuously absent. With the settlement of this region comes an extensive planting of orchards, vineyards and small-fruit gardens, which furnish shelter and nesting sites for the catbird as well as for other species.

Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Splendid Gift to Museum.

Ten scrapbooks compiled by Edward Fitzgerald, the poet of "Omar Khayyam," have been bequeathed to the Ipswich museum by his niece, Miss Eleanor Kerrick, to be added to the relics in the Fitzgerald room in Christ Church mansion. The scrapbooks consist of portraits of all manner of notabilities, kings and pugilists, bishops and murderers being pasted side by side. They contain many original pen-and-ink sketches by Charles Keene of Punch, also drawings by John Constable. Some of the drawings are enriched with comments by the poet.

Fleet Couriers.

The best runners in the middle ages were found among the couriers maintained by monarchs and cities. The runners of Tartary, England, Scotland, Italy and the Basque country all acquired reputations, and the histories of the times are replete with stories of their difficult exploits. The Pelchs, or Persian couriers of the Turkish sultans, often ran from Constantinople to Adrianople and back, a distance of 220 miles, in two days and nights.

DEATH OF MRS. DORR.

Complication of Diseases Caused Her Demise.

Mrs. Dena E. Dorr, wife of Mr. R. W. Dorr, died Saturday at her home just outside the eastern city limits. She had been a sufferer from heart trouble for some time, but the immediate cause of death was pneumonia. Mrs. Dorr was born in Kentucky and was 56 years old. Her parents were natives of Tennessee, but moved to this state many years ago. The deceased is survived by her children. The interment took place in Riverside cemetery Sunday.

Our roof leaks, our cellar fills with water every time it rains, our radiators thump, our furnace is too small for the house, its appetite is too large for our income, our gutters have rusted away, the porch sags, the house hasn't had a new coat of paint for seven years, the wall paper hangs loose in every room and the chimney is shorter after every windstorm." "Why in the world don't you move?" "Because we can't find another house with a hall that our long oriental runner will fit."

ATTENTION FISHERMEN!

Adjustable Pole Holder For You Is On The Market.

Designed so that it may be used in a number of different ways, a fishing-rod holder has been invented which performs a real service for the fisherman who is using several poles simultaneously, especially if he be trolling from a boat. The device, which is described with illustrations in the May number of Popular Mechanics Magazine, is made of sheet steel in the form of an adjustable socket, which, by the changing of a pin, regulates the angle at which the pole may be held. It is possible to use it in almost any place, from the gunwale of a boat to one's trouser belt. A small bell is also provided which fits to the device and sounds an alarm when a fish takes the bait.

WHAT CHILD LABOR ENTAILS

Minister, in Speech, Condemns the Inevitable Shortening of the Years of School Life.

Laws raising the age at which children may be put to work were favored by the Rev. Hugh McCauley, in a speech in Paterson, N. J.

"A strange sight greets us every day in this rich and prosperous country," said the clergyman. "Every morning an army of 1,750,000 child workers, ten to fifteen years of age, goes forth to labor eight, nine, ten and even eleven hours in factories, sweat shops, mines, glass works, canneries, fields or street trades. Every night these weary thousands turn homeward too worn out to play or anything else but to snatch a restless sleep, to enable them to go to work again at seven or eight o'clock the next morning.

"More startling still is the growth of this great evil. During the twenty years ended in 1900 the federal census shows that while child laborers increased 56 per cent—more by 12 per cent than the increase in child population—little girl workers increased 65 per cent. This, then, is the preparation we are giving to the future mothers of our land.

"Child labor means not only stunted growth, long hours, physical overstrain, night work, but also a lamentable shortening of the school life of these children."

The contest was held to furnish a representative from the seminary to take part in a state contest at Wilmore, Ky., May 3-4, where a man will be chosen to represent the State in a sectional contest, the winner of which will be eligible to compete in a national contest three years hence. —Louisville Times.

Ex-Sheriff Repays Fees.

Madisonville, Ky., Apr. 17.—In the suit of J. W. Lantrip against former sheriff J. B. Stanley for the recovery of the sum for the county of $1,468.24, Special Judge J. R. Layman returned a verdict for the plaintiff for $296.38 and costs, which has been paid by Mr. Stanley and the suit dismissed. The above sum was for items collected as fees by the former sheriff which the court claimed were wrong. The sum amounting to $715.58 collected by former sheriff as a fee of 1 per cent due the officer for paying out county money was dismissed by the court. This is the only case to be settled, as those of former Superintendent of Schools Fox, Bradley, Syper and Mills are in the court of appeals.

Crawford A Suicide.

The body of Robert I. Crawford was found in a thicket on a lonely island near Memphis, Saturday. The young salesman disappeared from his home in Louisville Monday, April 12, after receiving a promotion. A pistol in his hand showed that he had killed himself. His suicide was probably on Friday, as he had by him a Memphis paper telling of the arrival of his brother in the city to search for him. His death is a mystery. His body was taken to Louisville, where his parents and his wife and child reside.

EITHER ALLIES OR ENEMIES

Belligerent Nations of Europe Formerly Absolutely Refused to Recognize Neutrals.

In ancient times nations at war classed their neighbors as either allies or enemies, writes Herbert W. Bowen. Neutrality as an international relation was not recognized. There were no neutral rights and no neutral duties. International law itself existed only in a very rudimentary form.

It was not until after the fall of Rome and until the nations of Europe had become numerous and were asserting and exercising comparatively equal privileges and power that their interests became so conflicting that they perceived the necessity of establishing and supporting a system of law that must be applicable to them in their relations one with another. Grotius (1583-1645), the so-called father of international law, published in 1625 his famous book, "De Jure Belli et Pacis," which described the laws of war and peace. Of neutrals, whom he called middlemen in war, he had but little to say.

Bynkerschock, who was born 25 years after the peace of Westphalia was signed, and who was one of the most distinguished successors of Grotius, was, if not the first, at least among the first, of publicists to define and explain neutrality authoritatively, and to give to it a permanent place in the law of nations.—Case and Comment.

GARIBALDI'S FATHER.

General Garibaldi's visit to London recalls the tremendous welcome which the metropolis gave his father half a century ago, says the London Pall Mall Gazette. The duke of Pall Mall's four-horse carriage, which conveyed the popular hero from Waterloo to Stafford house, took six hours to force its way through the crowds of cheering people who thronged the route, and afterwards literally fell in pieces in the stable, having been strained to the breaking point by the weight of the thousands of strong arms which had clung to its sides as it passed through "a London gone mad with joy."

UNDECIDED.

"Grayce is engaged to four different men. I wonder which one she'll marry."

"I don't know. It ought to be a walk-over."

HER IDEA.

"Then she doesn't think that two can live as cheaply as one?"

"No; her idea is that two ought to live as expensively as five or six."

HIS BUSINESS.

"There is one labor trouble which marrying ministers welcome."

"What might that be?"

"A continuous tie-up."

YOUR attention is respectfully called, to an important point not generally known, that a laxative should have a tonic element to successfully meet constipation.

Mr. John B. Capers, of 610 Pecan St., Fort Worth, Texas, had a significant experience in this particular. He was afflicted with a severe case of constipation and bowel trouble. He spent a good deal of money in trying to find a remedy. To his astonishment, Peruna very quickly relieved him of his bad symptoms. This happened a number of years ago. Since then, Mr. Capers states that he has had similar attacks of trouble, the prominent symptom of which is constipation, and has always found prompt and efficient relief from Peruna. He says: "Up to the time I started using your Peruna I could drink castor oil like water. I did no good. As for salts, they were of no use. Physics of all kinds and classes were used, but we had to call on the fountain syringe for help." Peruna was able to correct this condition completely in Mr. Capers' case, and there is every reason to believe that it was the tonic qualities of Peruna, added to the laxative qualities, that procured this very desirable result.

MAN BURIED IN QUICKSAND KEPT ALIVE UNTIL SAVED.

In the course of digging a well shaft on his property near Ware, Mass., a farmer encountered quicksand at a depth of approximately 25 ft. beneath the surface of the ground, and sank in it until his head alone was visible when his predicament was finally discovered. Every possible agency was called upon to assist in the rescue work, the fire department included, but despite this he was buried for more than 24 hours before he could be taken from his precarious position. A picture in the May Popular Mechanics Magazine shows how the rescue was finally effected.

The remainder is divided between ten children, each child's share being subject to any debt it can be shown it owes the estate. Mrs. John H. TRIMMER FOR HORSE'S FEET

Tool, Resembling Pair of Pliers. Invented by Idaho Man, Neatly Removes Superfluous Growth.

For the neat and expeditious trimming of a horse's hoof, an Idaho man recommends a tool that he has patented. It resembles a pair of pliers with an extra joint. A pair of cutting jaws are pivoted together and to each of the jaws an arcuate rack is pivoted. These racks, which constitute the inner ends of the handles and have atop shoulders beyond them, mesh with each other on their inner faces. The rack members are held together by a yoke that has rollers on both sides, so that it moves readily back and forth. This allows complete freedom of movement of the various parts of the tool, yet keeps the intermeshed teeth of the racks from slipping out of place and making the implement useless. The cutting jaws are operated over the top of the hoof.

WRONG PRACTICE WITH SOWS

First Pure-Bred Sow is Usually Put In Pen by Herself, Petted and Generously Overfed.

It seems almost natural for the purchaser of his first pure-bred sow, in his desire to give her extra care, to overfeed her, to keep her away from the other hogs, put her in a close pen, where she is petted and fed at regular meal times, and lunch between in some instances, in their anxiety to do the very best for her possible.

This method of treatment is sure to ruin the sow, both in the feeding and in the close confinement, preventing her from taking the necessary exercise, so needful to the proper strengthening and building up on a solid foundation and to harden her in developing her, giving her a good constitution, broadening her and strengthening her with the exercise, which is also imparted to her coming litter.

The parlor sow, with her pettings and care, is nearly always a failure, and the party is wondering why it is, writes William Carruthers in Orchard and Farm. It is the wrong method throughout. It is unnatural and almost certain to result in failure of the sow.

Feeding when properly done, combined with exercise, is the proper idea. Feeding of the right character is essential; it needs to be regular, at uniform times, and with plenty of water and proper exercise, is the power that is depended upon to develop and improve the breed. The feeder is an important man in the destiny of the hog and should understand the business and act according to reason and the experience that is taught from those who have made a success of it.

COMMON DISEASE OF SHEEP

Animals Afflicted With Foot Rot Should Be Removed to Clean, Dry Lands and Trouble Attended To.

The first thing to do for sheep with foot rot is to get them on to clean, high, dry lands. Their feet should then be examined and any foreign matter between the toes, which may be aggravating the case, removed. All ulcers containing pus should also be opened and the pus drained off.

The next thing to do is to apply strong disinfectants to kill the troublesome parasites. Ointments made of a lard or lard-and-flour body, with carbolic acid or sheep dip in generous proportions incorporated, are sometimes used for this purpose. This is applied after the foot has been thoroughly bathed and cleaned up. This treatment requires considerable time and effort and is not practical in large flocks.

EXCELLENT HINTS ON HORSES

Intelligent Management Is Essential Point—Don't Sacrifice Quality to Size—Time for Water.

The essential point in using pure-bred draft mares on the farm is intelligent management.

The last 200 pounds we can put on a young draft horse is the most profitable 200 pounds of meat we can produce on the farm.

No drawing card holds out quite such strong inducements to good hired men as the farm that maintains high-class work horses.

It is a great mistake to sacrifice quality to size.

A horse is worth just what he can endure for his owner.

Many farm horses get more hay than is good for them. It is a poor plan to keep their feed racks or manger full of hay all the time.

A horse watered the last thing at night and the first thing in the morning is not going to take too much.

CRYING FOR HELP

Lots of it in Hopkinsville But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys often cry for help. Not another organ in the whole body more delicately constructed.

Not one more important to health. The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the frequent indications of kidney trouble.

It is often the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Read what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for overworked kidneys.

Proof of merit in the following statement:

F. M. Hall, farmer, Rick Castle Road, Cadiz, Ky., says: "I have not had any need of a kidney remedy since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me some years ago. The Other Fellow.

Give him a kindly, brotherly thought at least once in a while. Make him the center of things occasionally instead of yourself. Get into the habit of seeing a few things from his point of view. As you value the best things for which men were made, do not make all life a competition and all humanity a field for your exploitation. Of course, you can get ahead of the other fellow if you try hard enough, and act meanly enough, but the net result of it all is bound to be terribly disappointing. The money in your pocket that ought justly to be in his may not burn a hole and get out, but it may do something very much worse than that; it may burn and scar and scorch your own soul. It is really a rather serious matter living alongside the other fellow. What we do with him may be important from his point of view, but it is very much more important from ours.

"Because, if you haven't, I should like to stay."

"Why, I thought you were going to marry the sweep!"

"Oh, yes, mum," replied Bridget, hesitatingly, "but when I saw him after 'is face was washed I felt I could not love him."—London Tit-Bits

CRY OF THE HIPPOPOTAMUS

Article Has a Distinct Value That Is Recognized in the Commerce of the World.

One of the curiosities of African trade is the ivory of the hippopotamus. The animal's teeth are of a greater hardness than those of the elephant, and for a long time were employed in the manufacture of false teeth, which were skillfully carved from that material. In his "African Travels," Le Vaillant quaintly remarked, more than a century ago: "It is not surprising that Europeans especially Frenchmen, should make an article of commerce out of the teeth of the hippopotamus, for with the help of science they are made to replace our own, and we may see them flashing delightfully in the mouth of a pretty woman."

Science has, however, found a better substitute in this relation, and the trade in hippopotamus teeth for this purpose has fallen off. The making of "sjamboks," or whips, from the hide is still a flourishing industry, and during the Boer war an enterprising genius sold many strips of the thick hide at a shilling apiece to a trainload of Canadian recruits by calling the stuff "biltong," or sun-dried beef. The teeth of the walrus more nearly resemble elephant ivory and are in good demand in Japan for small carvings, and fossil ivory has long been used in China.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

REAL ATTRACTION OF WEALTH

Applicant's Desire for Money Neatly Summed Up by John D.
Rockefeller, Jr.

Since his appearance before the industrial relations commission the Junior John D. Rockefeller's life, indeed, has been made almost a burden to him of late by petitioners—petitioners with lofty aims, of course, but burdensome for all that.

They are chuckling at "26 Broadway" over a young man who visited Mr. Rockefeller last week. This young man, a graduate of a western university, said:

"Mr. Rockefeller, it is plain that you have been greatly misunderstood. Now that your philanthropical ideas are better known, I venture to ask you—"

And the young man explained, in very high-flown language, that he would like a Standard Oil job wherein he could get rich quick so that he, too, might aid in uplifting the downtrodden.

Mr. Rockefeller, regarding the young man in his calm manner, said:

"You want some way of growing rich rapidly. It's not a bad idea.
And you don't want riches for their own sake, but for the sake of what you can accomplish with them, eh?
In other words—"

Here Mr. Rockefeller permitted himself a dry little smile.

"In other words," he ended, "it's the spending that attracts you."

DUN DAYS

Wife (poetically)—Ah, Henry, the dun skies, the dun fields and the dun forests. Everything is dun these days.

Hubby—Blamed if they aren't,
Helen. Here comes another bill collector now.

FALLS FROM BRIDGE; CAUGHT.

Watching a freight train on the Pennsylvania railroad passing beneath the Thirty-third street bridge at Pittsburgh, Walter Betle, six-year-old son of Frank Betle, lost his balance and plunged from the bridge.

Standing on top of one of the box cars was Robert Roundtree, a brakeman, watching the child, who dropped from the railing of the bridge at the exact moment Roundtree was below that point.

Instinctively the brakeman flung out his arms, braced himself, and when he recovered his bearings found himself gripping an orphan who was looking up into his face with wide-eyed wonder. The train was stopped and the boy scampered home.

ACTING HIS PART.

"That chow chow dog of Mrs.
Smith's is certainly living up to his breed."

"What do you mean?"
"He keeps her continually in a pickle."

CAUSES SUCH PAIN.

"Doppel hates to spend money?"
"I'll tell you how much. If it were possible to take gas every time he parts with a dollar he'd take it."

HARD KNOCK.

"I like to associate with people of the exclusive sort."
"I must say that you don't show your disappointment much."

FOLLOWING THE FASHIONS.

"What is your gouty old uncle doing these days?"
"He has discarded the gout in favor of the fox trot."

HIS SKILL.

"They say the kaiser can cut down trees like an artist."
"I suppose, like an artist in wood cuts."

Stopped Those Pains.

Copper Hill, Va.—Mrs. Ida Conner, of this place, says: "For years I had a pain in my right side, and was very sick with womanly troubles. I tried different doctors but could get no relief. I had given up all hope of ever getting well, I took Cardui, and it relieved the pain in my side, and now I feel like a new person. It is a wonderful medicine." Many women are completely worn out and discouraged on account of some womanly trouble. Are you? Take Cardui the woman's tonic. Its record shows that it will help you. Why wait?
Try it today. Ask your druggist about it.

Welcome Burden.

"A honey bee, coming home with the nectar," says John Burroughs,
"will carry one-fifth of its own weight." Col. Motiver Beasley, who is also an authority on quite a number of subjects, says a man coming home with beer will carry almost one-half his own weight, and not complain about the burden, either.—New Or-

Value of Education.

cle Eben, "is de same as dat of a razor. It depends on what you takes a notion to do wif it."

WHY OBJECTION TO UNIFORM?

Hard to See Reason for Distaste
Which Has Been Made Subject of Much Discussion.

In discussing the suggestion that saleswomen, female clerks and stenographers shall adopt uniform attire one young woman protests that this would be a humiliation. That is doubtful, unless it is claimed that to be distinguished as one who works for a living is humiliating. And certainly this cannot be, for to do that is about the most commonplace thing there is. This is a world of working people.

Is the uniform of a policeman humilating? Or that of a soldier, or of a navy officer or man, or of a passenger conductor or brakeman, or of a station agent, or of a trained nurse, or of a fire department man, or of a nurse girl, or of an office building attache, or of a bank messenger? Isn't it a fact that the young woman's fancy turns gracefully toward the man in uniform, and that, his station in life corresponding with hers, the uniformed man has an advantage in his siege of a fluttering heart over his less fortunate rival in citizen's garb? Consider the uniformed woman, too, and is there any of the sisterhood comparable in nifty appearance with the professional nurse in her distinctive dress? Perish the thought of humiliation or servility! Even conceding that at first the innovation might be embarrassing, as soon as there was general adaptation to the new arrangement it would cease to convey any such feeling as humiliation.—Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

Modern Station Planned To Eliminate Confusion.

Facilities for handling complicated passenger traffic on a large scale, without confusion between the different routes, or between incoming and outgoing traffic, probably constitute the biggest feature about the new union passenger station at Kansas City, although the station itself is one of the largest and most costly in the world. An average of 260 trains daily, carrying a total of from 25,000 to 28,000 passengers, use this station, and every day there are about 530 tons of mail and 7,000 pieces of baggage handled. The value of the tickets sold annually is something like $5,000,000. Several views of the new station appear in the May Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Council Indicted.

The City Council of Frankfort was indicted by the grand jury because it has not suppressed the operation of a baby rack on Clinton street on court days. The report says the grand jury made an investigation of the city's affairs and found no evidences of fraud or graft. It complemented the condition of the Workhouse, jail and reformatory. The investigation of the city administration was due to changes made by political opponents of the administration.

IN MEMORY.

The death angel visited the home of Mr. H. C. Stewart Friday morning about 7 o'clock, April 9, 1915, and took from them their beloved wife and mother. She had been a sufferer for years of heart trouble, and since Christmas was confined to her bed most of the time.

She was born in Virginia in 1847. Before her marriage she was Missouri Ellen Lucass. She had been a member of the Baptist church for 50 years, and was a true Christian, devoted wife and mother, loved by all who knew her. She was 68 years of age and leaves an aged husband and five boys, besides a host of friends to mourn her loss.

The remains were laid to rest in the family burying ground near Gracy, in Trigg county.

She has gone from us, but not forgotten, and we no more on earth shall see her, for she has gone to a far brighter home above; still we mournfully view the vacant chair around which sweet memories linger, memories that can never die, but will live in beautiful harmony with the life so nobly lived and point to eternity where no shadows fall.

Thou art gone from us now,
And sad it seems from thee to part,
To the chastening hand we bow
With a bruised and bleeding heart.

Fain would we wish thee here again
When thinking of our sad loss;
But, Oh! its thy eternal gain,
We bow us, humbly, at the cross.
We know full well thy dear hands,
Are so busy, willing and free,
On the bright and golden strand
Art striving thy new-found harp with glee.

To thy loved ones we would say
In their grief and sadness of mind,
Let this golden link but stay,
And to the cross their actions bind.

We know you'll no stranger be
On that white and pearly strand,
Thy Saviour will welcome thee,
And grasp thy loving hand
A FRIEND.
